It's time to join the mobile revolution Level the playing field with XRS

We launched the telematics industry over 25 years ago as Qualcomm and are now revolutionizing transportation and logistics again. Now through the Omnitracs XRS platform, fleets and drivers can use their smartphones and tablets to inexpensively equip their fleets with every application and data-point previously available only to the largest organizations.

XRS connects quickly and easily - it's 'plug-and-play.' The palm-sized XRS Relay device in the cab connects in minutes to your truck's engine. The diagnostic and positioning data is transferred wirelessly via Bluetooth to the driver's smartphone, tablet, or rugged hand-held. Then the data is uploaded automatically to our web-based Cloud application for real-time visibility, exception alerts and fleet analysis. Life is easier for the driver, and the intelligent information is accurate and complete for the carrier.
